

OWNER'S MANUAL

Dear Mr. H. Sapien,

These suggestions will make ALL the difference in the world for your golf game. Take them seriously, don't analyze or improvise and follow them to the letter. There is a direct link between these suggestions, reaching your potential and loving your game!

- (1) Forget everything you know about the golf swing.
- (2) Watch Volume I several times and practice for a least a week before you watch Volume II.
- (3) DO NOT hit any golf balls for at least 14 days. Three weeks is better.
- (4) Practice swinging the club in the back yard and anywhere you can. 90% of your practicing should be away from the driving range and golf course. It will do more for your game than hitting golf balls! Make this a lifelong habit. This is one of the secrets to your best golf.
- (5) Swing the club several times a day for 5 minutes (more if you can). Never, never let a day go by without swinging a golf club . . . (any club is fine).
- (6) Block out ALL other advice from EVERY source. Resist the temptation to think that more information will help. It will have the opposite effect.
- (7) Have someone video tape your swing and compare it to my swing.
- (8) Use your McSwinger every other day to increase flexibility, groove your swing, and strengthen your "golf power muscles." Use your Swing Rite every three days to insure maximum club head speed at impact and monitor relative club head speed as your swing becomes more powerful.

We would love to post your testimonial on our web pages someday soon!

The best,

Jim McLellan
